

Prove it to Yourself

Experience the miracle of 14-day composting

Choose the size ComposTumbler that's best for you. Then try it in your yard or garden for 30 days. That's enough time to make two batches of rich compost.

If you're not absolutely delighted with this new, easy way to turn your yard and garden wastes into all the compost you'll ever need, we'll buy it back from you.

"Yesterday I started batch 2 of my compost, using my newly acquired ComposTumbler. This morning the temperature was already up to 112°. Frankly, I was suspicious of your statements: there just couldn't be any way compost could be made in 14 days. So, with some apprehension I tried it out. I watched the temperature every day; it seemed to 'float' at about 120°. Then it zoomed up, overnight, to 155°, then 160°. Day 14 saw the temperature inside the drum exactly the same as the outside air. It was finished right on the schedule you had promised. Needless to say, I'm happy."

ComposTumbling in Three Simple Steps

ONE. Gather the organic throw-outs you have to compost, keeping a good mixture of brown and green materials. Put them in the ComposTumbler, fasten the door, and give the drum a few spins.

TWO. Within hours millions of oxygen-consuming bacteria will start to work in the "inner core". The secret to success is to change this core daily. Doing this is easy. You simply give the drum about 5 spins using the gear-driven handle. Nothing else is required.

THREE. Here's the best part...in just 14 days you'll unload your dark, nutrient-rich, sweet-smelling brown gold! It's the same rich, sweet compost that used to take you months—even years—to make.

The amazing ComposTumbler has many advantages over other composting methods

- Solid drum sits off the ground—eliminates problems with odors, insects, rodents, and 4-legged scavengers.
- Gear-driven handle makes it easy to turn your compost—taking just a few minutes. Eliminates the back-breaking turning of open piles with a pitch fork or the awkward turning of materials enclosed in plastic bins.
- Screened vents assure even air flow and drainage, maintaining the needed movement of oxygen.

- All nutrients stay in your compost—where you want them—instead of leaching into the ground as they do in compost piles.
- Holds enough "mass" to allow the temperature to rise quickly—reaching up to 160°—hot enough to kill weed seeds.
- Attractive green color blends into your yard or garden setting—becomes almost "invisible".
- These unique design features give you finished compost—in just 14 days!
